Elba Rec Center voters will go to Elba Church of Christ now Coffee County makes voting location change in Elba prior to next Tuesday's Primary Elections

Elba voters who have become accustomed to voting at the Elba Recreation Center (Old National Guard Armory) on Claxton Avenue need to remember their voting place next Tuesday, March 3, 2020 has been moved to the Elba Church of Christ on the Troy Highway, across from Windham Lumber Co.

This move was necessary due to major structural issues in the foundation of the Recreation Center gym area. Those issues make the facility unsafe unless major repairs are made.

Engineers have examined the deteriorated foundation and made cost estimates on those repairs. City officials have discussed undertaking the massive repair project.

Another option that will be considered by city officials in Elba is tearing down the gymnasium part of the structure and possibly rebuilding it with completely new material.

Code enforcement officer updates council members on current FEMA flood buyout program in Elba

by Linda Hodge, Editor

During the Elba City Council meeting held Monday night, Feb. 24, at Elba City Hall, code enforcement officer Bryson Dear updated council members on the progress of the FEMA home buyout project stemming from the 2015 Christmas flood of Elba.

Recently, the federal government released the funds for this buyout program, and city officials have been progressing towards fulfilling that buyout.

Dear said a letter was sent out to property owners on Jan. 28th regarding the matter. This document also included voluntary withdrawal forms, and he said he had received six voluntary withdrawals since sending the documents to property owners.

Dear said responses had been received from 12 of the first 15 homeowners in the buyout program, and meetings were scheduled with those homeowners on Feb. 26th and 27th.

Also, Dear said appraisers in the area had been contacted, and he had received multiple responses from qualified appraisers showing interest in working with the city on this project.

Dear said he felt good about the progress that had been made on this buyout project since the time the city was able to get the ball rolling after the federal government released the funds for the project. He said there is lots of work ongoing daily on this project and will continue.

Also while addressing the council, Dear provided an update on code enforcement projects in regards to structures deemed unsafe.

Elba BOE members approve resolution opposing school start date legislation

by Linda Hodge, Editor

The Elba Board of Education met Tuesday morning, Feb. 25, in a special meeting, and proposed legislation was the main reason for the meeting.

The board first noted its opposition to Alabama Amendment 1, Appointed Education Board Amendment that will be on the Primary Election ballots next Tuesday, March 3rd.

A 'yes' vote on this proposed amendment supports amending the Alabama Constitution to rename the State Board of Education as the Alabama Commission on Elementary and Secondary Education and change the board from being elected by voters to being appointed by the governor and confirmed by the State Senate.

A 'no' vote on this proposed amendment opposes amending the Alabama Constitution, thus not changing the name of the State Board of Education and continuing to allow voters to elect those representatives to the State Board of Education.

Members of the Elba Board of Education said they support a 'no' vote next Tuesday on Amendment 1, and they encouraged all Elba citizens to join them in voting no on this matter.

The other matter addressed by the board during Tuesday's meeting was a resolution opposing school start date legislation.

Superintendent Chris Moseley had been updating the board on the possibility of members of the Alabama Legislature considering legislation this year that would outline school start and/or end dates for public schools in the State of Alabama.

Moseley said each local board of education already is required to Alabama Code to set a uniform start date for all schools within its system, which recognizes that school calendars are local decisions. He added that unique decisions take place in the 137 Alabama school systems regarding student achievement, holiday preferences, community events, teacher professional development, partnerships with local colleges and universities, and workdays for educators to meet with parents.

ELBA PARKS AND RECREATION HOSTS HEALTHY LIVING EXPO...The Magic of Nutrition Healthy Living Expo held last Saturday, Feb. 22, in downtown Elba proved to be educational and fun for all who attended. There were food demonstrations helping attendees realize healthier ways to prepare some of their most favorite foods from chili to taco dip. Elba Council approves work for police department façade

by Linda Hodge, Editor

The Elba City Council approved a bid Monday evening, Feb. 24, to allow work on the façade of the police department building in downtown Elba.

The council had received bid proposals from two companies - Catrett Construction and Parris Construction. The council awarded the work to Catrett Construction of Opp, Ala. in the amount of $12,334.

Council members said the building front would be painted a green color when the project is completed. They said this color would mimic the old dime store building on the square already upgraded a while back.

While on the subject of the police department, Police Chief Leslie Hussey told council members that the new CAD [Computer Aided Dispatch] System for the department would go live next Tuesday, March 3rd. He said training has been underway this week for the system.

"We are excited to get this system up and running," Hussey said.

The chief also told council members the department would begin advertising this week a police officer vacancy. He said the department is down one officer and needs to get that spot

The façade of the police department building in downtown Elba will soon get a facelift as Elba City Council members voted Monday night to award the project work to Catrett Construction of Opp, Ala.

He noted that two officers currently at the police academy would be finished with their training in a couple of weeks, and they would be returning to the force at that time.

He said getting those two officers back and hiring another one would get the department to a point where the others would not have to work as much overtime soon.

Chief Hussey discussed the ongoing Donta Rogers murder case. He said the department is still actively working this murder case.

Hussey said investigators need the weather to improve to allow them to be able to do some of the physical investigative work, and they also are still awaiting some results from forensics. However, he said the case remains very much open and active.

Assistant city clerk Pat Boothe told council members that street department employees had been busy recently working on the levee trying to ensure everything is ready for an upcoming Corp of Engineers inspection. She said a recent check on all the flood pumps found them to be in good working order.

In a review of the city's financials, Mayor Mickey Murdock said he was excited to see that sales tax income remains 5% higher for the year-to-date figures this year compared to last year.

"I wouldn't have predicted it myself but hopefully it will keep going in this direction," Murdock said.

Overall, he said he is happy with the financials at this point for the city. He did not that salaries are higher than projected but feels this could be due to all the overtime within the police department due to an officer shortage there. He said hopefully that would even out as the year progresses.

The next Elba City Council meeting will be Monday, March 9, at 5:30 p.m.

BRAINSTORMS

With Ferrin Cox

"Elections belong to the people. It's their decision. If they decide to turn their back on the fire and burn their behinds, then they will just have to sit on their blisters." — Abraham Lincoln

Next Tuesday, March 3, Alabama voters will troop to the polls for their first chance to voice an opinion — at least collectively. Many Elba area voters will be voting at the Elba Church of Christ this year and NOT at the Claxton Avenue Recreation Center.

Both Democrats and Republicans will be voting on an amendment to the Alabama constitution. It will change the state board of education from an elective office to one appointed by the Governor. The Superintendent of Education will be named by this group and confirmed by the State Senate. There are strong forces on each side of this issue. A negative is that it removes the citizens from the selection process. A positive is in the terrible decisions that crop up from time to time from the elected Alabama School Board. Educators seem to want to keep the status quo rather than 'change' and that in itself can be good or bad. At this writing we will probably stick with what we have and vote NO on the amendment. It is often better to keep the devil you have rather than get one with unknown ideas and traits. However, Alabama schools continue to grade low on student achievement, attendance and graduation rates and it is not all 'money for education' issues.

The Republican ballot is long, but most of the names are people fighting to be a Republican Convention delegate — voting for Donald Trump for another term as president. We scanned the list and saw several names that were familiar, but not many. In our mind the easiest thing to do is vote in the top group which lists Donald Trump, Bill Weld and 'uncommitted' and skip all 24 or so of the various delegate votes.

Democrats have far more candidate names to review in the presidential race. There are 14 candidates listed, even though some of them have already officially dropped out of the race.

There is one County Commission race on the Republican ballot. Incumbent Kim Ellis is challenged by Joseph M. "Mike" Bailey.

In the U. S. senator race, Republicans have seven choices. Pollsters sometimes can ask questions and announce numbers in a way to secretly help a particular candidate. However, in this race most pollsters are coming up with Jeff Sessions in the lead (also with almost $2 million left in his war chests) and Bradley Byrne or Tommy Tuberville with a chance at being in the run-off with Sessions. We suspect that Sessions will ultimately be nominated as the Republican winner again but only after a lively runoff with one of the two other names above.

The Democrats will not see the U S Senate race on their ballot, as the incumbent Doug Jones is unopposed for the nomination.

The 2nd District House of Representatives race is wide open with the incumbent not seeking re-election. Again the polls show Dothan's Jeff Coleman leading. He is young (53), a businessman and spending lots of money on the campaign. Trailing him for a possible shot at a runoff is Elba native Troy King of Montgomery. Barry Moore of Enterprise ran a strong second two years ago but the crowded field has him probably at third place (or lower) in most polls. Coleman has faced some negative feedback over a federal court case dealing with false billing by employees of his moving company. We testified in a similar case years ago that was absolutely pie-in-the-sky charges (and the jury found the moving companies innocent) so we put little stock in Coleman's case charges.

The Democrats have two candidates in this race. Phyllis Harvey-Hall and Dothan's Nathan Mathis. Nathan is the better known but we have no idea what any polls are showing in this race. Either way, we expect the Republican to win. Republicans have held this seat since Goldwater race for President.

Greg Shaw has one opponent in his race for re-election to the Alabama Supreme Court. Cam Ward is well known around Alabama and a mover and shaker in the Alabama legislature. It bothers us a bit though that a candidate for the Supreme Court (Ward) is also running as a delegate to the political convention. The Democrats have no one on the ballot for this race.

Court of Civil Appeals Place #2 will have Phillip Bahakel and Matt Fridy on the Republican ballot. Each is as strange to us as their unusual last names. Nothing on the Democrat ballot here.

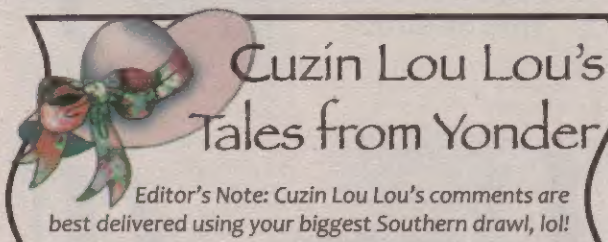

Republican incumbent Mary Windom is challenged by Melvin Hastings for the nomination Place #1 on the Court of Criminal Appeals. Again, no Democrat primary challenge in this race.

Place #2 in the Court of Criminal Appeals has three candidates. Jill Ganus, Beth Kellum (incumbent) and Will Smith. We hear no complaints on Kellum's work.

President of the Public Service Commission Twinkle Andress Cavanaugh (Republican) is seeking re-election and is facing Robin Litaker. The Democrats have two candidates in this race also. Laura Casey and Robert L. Mardis, III.

The balance of both ballots is a confused listing of citizens wanting to be a delegate to their respective party convention.

Please do vote on Tuesday. But first study the candidates and vote for the betterment of Cuzin Lou Lou has been doing a little reading in preparation for the upcoming Primary Elections... Now, she doesn't get too involved in political candidate debates but there is a proposed amendment on the ballot that caused her to take a double-take look.

Amendment 1 proposes to change the State Board of Education to a Commission and make the members appointed persons rather than the elected officials we currently have on the school board.

Lou Lou is definitely not a fan of politicians as a whole, especially if they are more concerned with satisfying their political party fellows than they are in doing what is right for the citizens they represent.

But, regarding this particular matter, can't help but think having elected representatives for the state school leaders would be much better than having appointed leaders. Seriously!

The idea of turning the State Board of Education into a Commission to allow the members to be appointed seems like a plan to ensure the leaders of the state's education system have the objectives of the appointer at heart rather than doing what is best for the education system as a whole.

Now... Lou Lou does not live in a fantasy world. She knows there are problems with the current system, but those problems could certainly be addressed and worked on easier than having a Commission set up that has one agenda at heart only.

It just seems to Lou Lou like the best option on this particular amendment is to say "no" to those trying to get the change. There has to be an underlying reason for such a change.

Let's elect those state board of education members as we have in the past, and then, let's force them to do a better job than has been done.

The best way to handle an elected official is to constantly berate them when we feel they are doing wrong and/or not doing the best they can for us as constituents. They at least know if they do not adhere to the people, they will find themselves voted out the next go around.

It just seems to Lou Lou that a commission with appointed members will not be concerned as much by the outrage of the constituents as they are with pleasing the person(s) who put them in that spot.

It takes the 'say so' out of the hands of the citizens, and we do not need that when we are dealing with the folks put in charge of leading our state's education system.

Whether you agree with Cuzin Lou Lou or not on this matter, that is okay. She will be voting 'no' to Amendment 1 on Tuesday. You vote your conscious...but, please do go vote!

Until next time...God bless and keep smiling!

Can I Have a Traditional Service if I Choose Cremation?

One of the most common misconceptions about cremation is it precludes a traditional memorial service. Nothing could be further from the truth. In reality, many families ultimately choose to honor their deceased loved one with a traditional service—either before or even after the cremation of the body.

These traditional services have endured for a reason, after all: Many people find them to be comforting. That's why even those who choose cremation may still wish to have a final viewing, a visitation or wake, and then a funeral service.

In some instances, the body can be cremated before the funeral service takes place; the cremated remains are then placed into the urn, which can be displayed at the service, in place of a casket. Following the service, there can be a gravesite service as the urn is either buried or placed into a columbarium. Alternatively, the family may simply wish to take the urn with them, leaving it in their home for a few days before ultimately returning it to its final resting place.

Another option is to delay the cremation, allowing the body to be displayed for a final viewing and then a visitation and funeral service. In other words, it can be just like any other traditional memorial—except rather than being buried, the body is taken away for cremation.

Most funeral homes will be more than willing to provide your family with whatever arrangement you find most meaningful, or most in line with the deceased's wishes. If that means cremation and traditional funeral services, that's perfectly doable. As always, speak with your funeral director about any of the specifics.

CHURCH NEWS

Pastor's Corner

MINISTER PHILIP BOX
ELBA CHURCH OF CHRIST

A dead church presents no threat to Satan!
We must be alive and active for Jesus!

The nature of God motivates us to serve Him. God is worthy of human service simply because of who He is! There are two sources of information regarding Almighty God.

First, there is the revelation of nature, which shows the wisdom and power of His Deity. (Psalm 19:1) God's power is seen in His many acts of creation. The evidence is so strong that those who fail to conclude from that evidence that "God is" are "without excuse." (Romans 1:20) In addition to the book of nature, there is the revelation of Scripture, the Bible.

The Bible teaches that God is infinitely wise. (Romans 11:33-36) He is loving, and benevolent. (1 John 4:8, Ephesians 2:4) The gift of His Son to provide for our redemption should motivate us to surrender our life to Him. God is worthy of human service on the basis of His own nature. "I will call upon the LORD, who is worthy to be praised; so shall I be saved from mine enemies." (Psalm 18:3) poused the revolutionary concept of equal pay for equal work and women's rights to keep their own earnings. Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, while supporting suffrage, saw this as part of a larger class struggle which included all workers, and, in her impatience for change, joined the communist party in 1937. She died in Moscow in 1964. - The Story of America, The Reader's Digest Association Inc., Pleasantville, New York

WELCOME TO ELBA, COACH...Elba City Schools Superintendent Chris Moseley (left) gave Coach Marc Sieving (right) the official "welcome to Elba" handshake Tuesday evening, Feb. 18, following the Elba Board of Education meeting where board member unanimously voted to approve Sieving's hire as Elba High School's new physical education teacher, head football coach, and athletic director. Following the vote, Sieving addressed the board and those in attendance for the meeting, and he assured all that he is familiar with the traditions and expectations for Elba's football program. He said he knows winning championships is part of those traditions and expectations, and that was a motivating reason for him wanting the job. Sieving comes to Elba from Dauphin Junior High School in Enterprise, Ala., where he spent the past six years as the head football coach of that junior high program. He said he is excited to become an Elba Tiger.

The Coffee County Extension agency partnered with the Elba Recreation Department for last Saturday's healthy living expo held in downtown Elba. Above, one of the extension agents demonstrates a "healthy" way to make chili by sharing a three bean chili recipe with a group of about 40 attendees. The overall consensus was the chili was quite tasty.

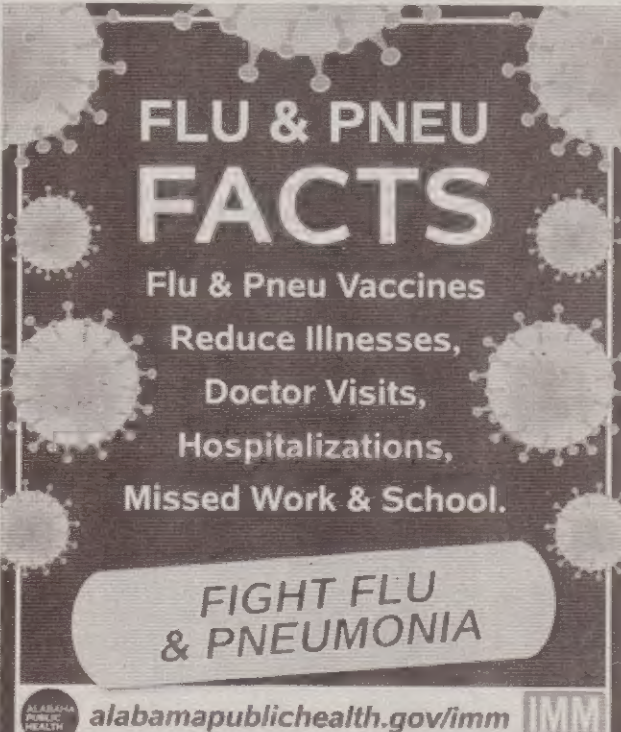

Information boards, such as this, were strategically placed during healthy living expo to help educate attendees about the good and bad of foods consumed on a daily basis. The idea of the expo was to promote healthy eating.

This group of attendees for last Saturday's healthy living expo not only learned more healthy ways to prepare foods, but they all left with several free gifts just for coming to the event. Above, the group learns about a fruity way to spice up their daily water intake. This demonstration was held in the former Just Folk Coffeehouse location. Other locations that hosted demonstrations included the Elba Public Library and Elba Senior Citizens Center. The Elba Chamber of Commerce also hosted a walking tour early in the day, and executive director Sandy Bynum said she had a great crowd for the tour.

Involving children was a big part of last Saturday's healthy living expo. Above, the youngsters line up to receive their free gifts after an "exercising" demonstration.

This "add more veggies" demonstration last Saturday at the Elba Sr. Center showed attendees how to make a veggie-filled dish.

Our grandson Lawson has entered the world of arithmetic at school and had to get some special lessons from his Nanny one day last week as he began to work word problems. The trick was top know which problem to solve first, and once he learned that the rest came easy. While arithmetic has changed to mathematics over the years, sometimes the old ways are still the best when it comes to teaching.

For what it is worth....

 The Elba Lady Tigers saw their wild ride through the basketball season hit a dead end this week when they lost in the opening round of the Final Four to top-ranked Spring Garden. The Lady Tigers fell behind by double digits early in the second quarter and was never able to get any close than 11 points over the remainder of the game as they ended the historic season with a 23-8 record. While the players and fans were disappointed to see the season end, one game doesn't define this teams season and one loss certainly does not take away from the school record wins they posted.

 The Elba Tigers opened their baseball season last week with an 8-3 road loss to Geneva, but Coach Glen Johnson was encouraged despite the loss and is convinced once the team can settle into a solid practice routine and avoid the rain, the Tigers will be just fine and be a contender. The Tigers have depth on the mound, which is rare, and return plenty of players that should make a difference in the long run. So, hopefully before long the Tigers will settle in and begin to play like a winner.

 Next year's state basketball tournament will remain in Birmingham, despite the fact the Legacy Arena will be closed for a multi-million dollar upgrade. The tournament will be split at the Bartow Arena, at UAB, and the Bill Harris Arena over at the Crossplex, and while neither spit is as big as the Legacy Arena, by splitting the tourney up it might actually be better. I know the Legacy Arena is located downtown is the state's largest non-collegiate arena, but the fact schools from across the state have to go all the way to Birmingham, fight the state's worst traffic and spend the night due to the early starting times of some games. Money talks, and Birmingham desperately wants it's downtown to become a destination for visitors, but it simply is not the most fan friendly place for such a large event.

 The high school baseball season started last week and after just one week it looks like the New Brockton Gamecocks may be a 2A power and the Zion Chapel Rebels may be ready to return to their winning ways from years ago. The Gamecocks clobbered 5A Carroll 18-2 to make an early statement, while the Rebels dismantled Kinston 17-0 to let their fans know it may be a fun season ahead. The rainy weather played havoc with many games both in baseball and softball, but this week's forecast is sunny weather and maybe we will know more a week from know about the scenery in both sports in the local area.

Lady Tigers ousted in Final Four opener

The Elba Lady Tigers saw their historic season come to an end Monday morning with a 56-35 loss to the top-ranked Spring Garden Lady Wildcats, at the AHSAA Class 1A State Basketball Tournament, in Birmingham.

The Lady Tigers pulled even at 2-2 early in the semifinal clash on a basket by Jaylin Baker, but Spring Garden canned three-pointers on its next two trips down the court to grab an 8-2 lead, and while Elba did get within 8-4 with 5:16 left in the opening quarter on a short jumper by Melissa Williams, the Lady Wildcats added two more three-pointers late in the stanza to open up a 16-6 advantage.

Nina Williams converted a three-point play early in the second quarter to close the deficit to 16-9. However, Spring Garden answered with an 8-0 run over the quarter's next three minutes to take a 24-9 lead with 5:12 still left in the half.

Melissa Williams and Jaylin Baker combined for all eight Elba points in the closing four minutes of the quarter, but were unable to put a dent in the Lady Wildcats lead and at the half went in trailing 30-17.

The Lady Tigers matched the Lady Wildcats basket for basket in the opening moments of the third quarter and were still down by 13 points at 34-21 with 6:27 remaining in the stanza after a basket by Melissa Williams, only to watch Spring Garden extend its lead to 45-25 late in the quarter to take complete command.

A basket by Jaylin Baker was the only points the Lady Tigers put on the scoreboard over the initial seven minutes of the fourth quarter as Spring Garden pushed its lead to 56-29, and while Nina Williams and Breanna Sanders both drained long three-pointers in the closing minute, it was too little, too late, as the Lady Tigers saw their season end with the 56-35 defeat.

Jaylin Baker scored 10 points, grabbed 8 rebounds and blocked 3 shots to lead Elba, while Melissa Williams added 8 points and 5 rebounds, Freeda Hooks added 8 points and 2 steals, Nina Williams added 6 points and 4 rebounds and Breanna Sanders added 3 points, 8 rebounds and 6 blocked shots.

Sophomore Neeley Welsh scored 30 points and grabbed 11 rebounds to spark Spring Garden.

Elba Tigers drop baseball opener to Geneva 8-3

The Elba Tigers opened their baseball season last week with a disappointing 8-3 road loss to the Geneva Panthers.

Elba went three up and three down in the opening three innings, while Geneva combined one hit with one walk and one Elba error to plate two runs in the bottom of the first inning to grab an early 2-0 lead.

The Tigers finally put a runner on base in the top of the fourth when John Martin Wilson led off the inning with a double. However, the next three Tiger batters all went down on strikes as Martin was left stranded.

Paxton Wise was hit by a pitch with one out in the top of the fifth and moved to second when Collin Sauls reached on a fielder's choice. Both runners moved up a base on a ground out, and both raced home when Iverson Lane delivered a two-run, two-out single to pull Elba even with Geneva at 2-2.

The game didn't stay tied for long; however, as Geneva combined 2 hits with 3 walks and an Elba error to plate four runs in the bottom of the frame to plate four runs and open up a 6-2 lead after five innings of play.

The Panthers added two runs in the bottom of the sixth on one hit, two walks and one hit batter to push their lead to 8-2, and while the Tigers did add a single run in their final at-bat when Paxton Wise reached on a walk, went to second on a one out fielder's choice, went to third on a single by Iverson Lane, and finally crossed the plate on a bases loaded walk to Carson Wise, the Tigers left the bases loaded as the late rally fell far short as Elba dropped its opener 8-3.

Iverson Lane had 2 hits to lead Elba at the plate, while Connor Burrow and John Martin Wilson both added 1 hit and Paxton Wise scored 2 runs.

Zion Chapel Bass Team members Avery Padgett and Ethan Young finish 3rd place at Feb. 15th tourney on Lake Eufaula

Although the Zion Chapel Bass Team did not fish for a few weeks in the dead of winter, it did not mean the youngsters were asleep.

During those few weeks, they busied themselves with a couple of fundraisers. Congrats to Ken Eifert for winning the $500 Troy Sports certificate on Friday, Jan. 31, 2020. Then on Saturday, Feb. 15, at the Eufaula tournament, Dustin Stinson's name was drawn from the Yeti 35 Cooler, the prize for the second fundraiser.

Both drawings were done on Facebook Live. The team appreciates the support of their friends, families, and community in their fundraising efforts.

During the tournament hiatus, some members of the ZC Bass Team enjoyed practice fishing, primarily at Lake Eufaula.

On Sunday, Feb. 9, some of the team members were at Lake Eufaula and met several of the pros who were having their Major League Fishing Stage One 2020 Tournament.

Meeting these pro anglers inspired the ZC anglers to keep hitting the water trying out new techniques and a variety of bait options.

On Saturday, Feb. 15, the ZC Team was back at their most familiar lake, Lake Eufaula, to compete in the second of four tournaments on the Tiger Trail for the BASSMASTER High School Series. There were 141 high school teams fishing this tournament.

The weather conditions (cold, but sunny) and the amount of fishing that had taken place on the lake in the last few weeks had the anglers concerned about how the fish would bite. However, two of the ZC Teams were able to catch fish.

The team of Kaleb Devos/Trevor Lee caught three fish weighing in at 7.12 pounds. This placed them 27th out of 141 teams.

The team of Avery Padgett/Ethan Young caught the limit of five fish weighing in at 17.82 pounds; they also caught the third largest fish weighing in at 6.60 pounds. They finished in third place overall out of 141 teams. This finish qualifies them for the state championship at Lake Demopolis, June 6-7.

According to the latest release from the Alabama BASS Nation, the ZC Team ranks in fourth place in the Six-Man Tournament.

The ZC Bass Team offers congratulations to G. W. Long senior Sam Shiver who recently signed with Faulkner University to join their bass team later this year. Like Zion Chapel, this has been the initial season for the G. W. Long team to participate in the tournament trail.

Follow the ZC Team as they compete again in the Tiger Trail Tournament March 14 at Lay Lake.

"Our board is charged with making decisions that are in the best interest of our students and student achievements," Moseley said. "A statewide school start date would compromise the Elba City School system's academic calendar and force students to lose instructional time prior to standardized testing."

Moseley said local decisions about the school calendar directly impact the students and faculty, and he feels the best decision is for the local boards to continue to set their own calendar regarding start and/or end dates.

In approving the resolution during Tuesday's meeting to oppose legislation placing the school start date in the hands of the state rather than the local systems, the Elba Board of Education members united in saying "Elba City Schools' academic calendar is an education priority and not a business or tourism decision."

The resolution asked policymakers to leave the calendar authority at the local level, and they further asked lawmakers representing Elba City Schools and its citizens to vote against any bill which proposes to outline a statewide start and/or end date for Alabama public schools.

Moseley said a copy of the resolution would be recorded in the meeting's minutes, as well as, provided to the Alabama Association of School Boards, each member of its Legislative delegation, and the Governor.
